Tea ceremony with Steve

10. 7. 2025

Almost a decade ago, I met Steve at a tea ceremony he held during the Ängsbacka Tantra Festival. Among all the teachers there, he stood out with his remarkable presence.

On July 10th, Steve will host a tea ceremony for us in Sweden, guiding us to connect with tea as a master plant. True tea is a powerful teacher—offering insights, moving energy, and guiding us in the most wonderful ways, if we are open to receiving it. Steve will help us open to this experience and prepare some beautifully wise teas for us.

About Steve

Steve Kokker is a Canadian-born teashop owner and bodyworker living in his ancestral homeland of Estonia, where he runs a specialized teashop (chado.ee) and a bodywork studio (teaandtouch.com). He has been importing tea into Estonia since 2004 and spent years before that self-educating in tea. His path with the plant was at first quite nerdy, intellectual, health-focused and quite a bit romantic. After opening his teashop Chado in 2010 he discovered Global Tea Hut in Taiwan, where he has been studying ever since. Their Zen and shamanic approach to tea practice as a ‘way’ towards being a better human has been his guiding light ever since. Plus, he’s still quite romantic about tea! Before all this, he was a travel writer for Lonely Planet, a journalist and film critic, a photographer, a counselor in psychiatric institutions and tried his hand at documentary filmmaking.

About me - Noa

I love tea and the profound guidance it offers. Wanting to experience Steve’s presence again, I invited him to share his wisdom. I know no one else who holds such deep knowledge of tea—and, more importantly, the awakened awareness to connect with it and reveal its deeper layers.

I also hold tea ceremonies, offer retreats, online groups, and other spaces to support the expansion of awareness—so that we may all live as liberated beings.
